NEW COLD WAVE TO SWEEP U. S., WARNING

France Threatens To Make Separate Treaty With Turkey If British Delay Settlement

PEACE OR WARFARE ALL DEPENDS ON GREAT BRITAIN IT IS CLAIMED

Final Outcome Is Now Up to Cabinet, Says Press; Invaders Advance

BULLETIN

PARIS, Feb. 6.—The semi-official newspaper Temps this afternoon printed a veiled threat that France will make a separate treaty with Turkey if Great Britain delays a Near East settlement.

BULLETIN

PARIS, Feb. 6.—Peace or war in the Near East depends upon Great Britain, not upon Turkey, the French press declared today. Advices from Lausanne said Ismet Pasha had been persuaded that it is best for Turkey's interests to sign the allied peace treaty, accepting capitulations for his country, but that the final outcome is up to the "British cabinet."

ATHENS, Feb. 6.—Premier Gonatas of Greece informed International News Service today that he believed hostilities would not be resumed in the Near East.

"Greece will not attempt a struggle against Turkey without any outside help," said M. Gonatas. "We cannot go it alone."

Greek officials said they were convinced Turkey and Russia were bluffing.

French Troops Advance

ESSEN, Feb. 6.—French troops today are only twenty-five miles from Bavaria as a result of the advance in Hesse and occupation of the railroad town of Goddelau.

French troops are being moved forward all along the "Rhine front." First came the advance into Westphalian territory and the occupation of the Ruhr. Then the advance into Baden and finally the forward movement through Hesse.

K. OF P. LODGE TO SPONSOR SCOUTS

California's Oldest Troop Is Backed by Local Fraternal Order

Knights of Pythias, through a committee, last night adopted plans to sponsor Glendale Troop No. 1, which is the oldest troop of Boy Scouts in California.

The new troop committee consists of A. H. Davis, chairman, 610 East Broadway; E. E. Fram, 348 West Windsor; M. J. Edwards, 525 West Myrtle; Robert N. Taylor, 336 West Park. The new scoutmaster, S. B. Jolliffe of 512 South Louise street, also was present at the meeting last evening. Robert M. Searle will continue as assistant scoutmaster.

It is the plan of the troop committee to make this troop one of the most efficient Boy Scout organizations in the Verdugo hills district.

Troop No. 1 was organized in September, 1911, under the leadership of Scoutmaster J. G. Goodsell. No one has officially sponsored its activities, and it provides a feeling of great joy and satisfaction to the scouts now in the troop to have a prominent organization, the Knights of Pythias, behind them.

The enrollment last week at the close of the past semester was 1625. Deducting the thirty members of the mid-year graduating class leaves a total of approximately 1,770 pupils now in attendance.

CLEWS MAY SOLVE TAYLOR MURDER, SAY OFFICIALS

Arrest Looms in Mystery Slaying; Former Narcotic Peddler Gives Aid

Copyright, 1923, International News

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—With an arrest imminent, and with new and astounding information in their hands, Los Angeles police and agents of the department of justice today renewed their probe of the year-old William Desmond Taylor murder mystery and there were strong indications the slayer would be caught.

Following two definite lines of investigation, the officers, who have worked on the case since Taylor was killed in his Alvarado street home, February 2, 1922, have unearthed new information, which in one instance, throws a new light on the motive for the slaying.

While detectives here declined to discuss the report, they had located a person wanted in connection with the slaying, it was reliably reported that an arrest was almost certain, and that plans were being formulated to effect the arrest.

Much Information

A mass of information has been furnished the local officers from a northern city by underworld informants and a former narcotic peddler of Los Angeles, causing the department of justice agents to redouble their efforts to learn the identity of one of Taylor's associates who was known to have been at his home before the slaying.

The name of a prominent actress of the legitimate stage is coupled with the name of a film actress who was interrogated by the investigators shortly after the slaying, it was reported, and a woman's handkerchief, found in Taylor's apartment after the discovery of the body, may play an important part in the new phases of the probe, it was stated.

NEW ARMS PARLEY CALL BRINGS ON SENATE FIGHT

King of Utah Appeals for Passage of Measure to Summon World Meet

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The senatorial tempest over the foreign policy of the United States, after simmering for two weeks, flared up in the senate again today with an attempt by Senator William H. King, Democrat, of Utah, to attach to the army supply bill an amendment requesting President Harding to summon another world-wide disarmament conference in Washington.

In the face of defiant Republican and irreconciliable disapproval, King appealed for adoption of the proposal to "add to the greatness and power of the United States as a stabilizing effect on the world."

Not unlike the original Borah resolution, which ultimately resulted in the calling of the Washington conference after opposition of administration forces, was the King amendment today.

Specifies Request

It specifically requested and directed the president to summon all nations with which the United States has diplomatic relations to send represenatives to a conclave to agree upon further disarmament, with special attention to slashing army personnels and fortifications not included in the agreements of the Washington meetings last year.

"The Washington conference called by the president merely dealt with capital ships, but time has demonstrated that the results of the conference have been disappointing and have not lifted from the backs of the people military and naval burdens," said King.

"There should now be summoned a world conference for the purpose of agreeing upon a policy to reduce land and naval armaments and upon measures for the restoration of Europe.

Material Profit

"The United States would profit materially if peace should come to Europe, but it would profit more in its leadership throughout the world because of its position among nations. It should lead the way and immediately ask for a world conclave to deal with economic conditions and with the limitation of armaments.

"From every point of view, the people of the United States are interested in the economic and political conditions of Europe, as well as the rest of the world."

Students Will Debate French Raid on Ruhr

Were the French justified in entering the Ruhr?

This question will be discussed Monday afternoon at the Glendale Union High school at the try-out for the Monrovia debate, which will be held on March 9. The team will be coached by Miss Mary Gladys Corry.

Uncle John Says:

We was entertainin' some friends from back east the other day and Mary was tellin' 'em all about Glendale in her well known boastin' way. Mr. Easton laughed and says to me, "John, it wouldn't be no exaggeration to call your wife a Glendale booster, would it?" Mary says, "Well, I'm mighty proud to be called by that name, and them that's well acquainted with me knows I don't boost anything that aint worth boostin'. My friends know I'm strictly honest."

Soviet Russia Now Willing to Pay Up Debts, Says Leader

LONDON, FEB. 6.—"Soviet Russia is willing to enter into negotiations for payment of the debts owed by Russia if the Moscow government is granted adequate credits," George Tchitcherin, Russian foreign minister, was quoted as saying in a Central News despatch from Lausanne this afternoon.

Tchitcherin, head of the Russian delegation, has published a note declaring that the Russians "had learned from official sources that the conference has been suspended." The communication continued:

"It is confirmed that there has been no mutual decision regarding the Turkish straits. The Russians are waiting for a new conference to be convoked."

Both the Turks and Russians are preparing to leave tomorrow. They said they believed negotiations would be re-opened within two or three weeks.

The Russians are expected to go to Berlin for an indefinite stay.

FORMER RULERS OF LOCAL ELKS IN CHAIRS AGAIN

Past Officials Once More Take Charge; Vaudeville Program and Lunch

A come-back was staged last night by past exalted rulers of the local lodge of Elks.

Between 400 and 500 of the antlered herd derived much amusement and enjoyment from the actions of the past exalted rulers who were called upon to fill various offices in the lodge ceremonies. Members of the audience were not hesitant in reminding them of any forgetfulness of the ritual.

A vaudeville bill was presented by professional talent from Los Angeles following the lodge work. This was arranged by the entertainment committee consisting of Irving H. Oliver, Ray Galvin and Harry McPherson.

Lunch at Midnight

A midnight lunch consisting of coffee and sandwiches and pickles and cheese was served under the direction of John Roman, house manager.

A program of popular music was played by the Glendale Elks' orchestra, led by J. A. Becker, who played a violin. Others of its members present were Eddie Moniot, banjo; Roy Flint, drums; Harry Goodwin and Edwin Albright, piano. Ed Keri, cornet; I. S. Brown, trombone; H. H. Parker, flute; A. H. Jackson, clarinet; W. A. Brauman and William A. Bode, violin.

Especial guests of the occasion were W. R. Newport, past exalted ruler of the lodge at Hanford, who served as chaplain; James A. Rhoades, past exalted ruler of the club at Hellgate, Mont., and R. W. Schulze, past exalted ruler of the lodge at Jamestown, N. Y.

Past Officials

Glendale past exalted rulers present and the offices they filled last night were as follows: Albert D. Pearce, exalted ruler; Bert P. Woodard, esteemed loyal knight; C. D. Thom, esteemed leading knight; Stephen C. Packer, esteemed lecturing knight; Alfred F. Priest, tyler; Peter L. Ferry, inner guard; John H. Fanset, esquire.

Announcement was made that no lodge meeting will be held Monday night because officers and members of the lodge will put on the work at Monrovia.

Attending last night's meeting was Archie M. Parker of Glendale, the oldest remaining member of the lodge here in point of membership. Mr. Parker carries card No. 4 in the Glendale lodge, and helped to organize it.

"It was a big night last night," said Mr. Parker this morning. Much of interest was brought out and a whole lot more could have been told regarding the trials and tribulations of organizing an Elks' lodge in Glendale, when we had to show that the city exceeded 5,000 in population.

TURKEY AGREES TO SIGN LAUSANNE TREATY, REPORT

British Cabinet Meets to Consider Near East Crisis; Situation Serious

BULLETIN

ROME, Feb. 6.—Reports that the Turks had backed down and would sign the Near East peace treaty in its present form, are untrue, according to word from Lausanne this afternoon. Ismet Pasha was quoted as saying that Angora would insist upon further modification before Turkey would accept the pact.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The cabinet met this afternoon to consider the Near East crisis for the second time within twenty-four hours. Just before the meeting the foreign office had received advices from Lausanne indicating that the Turks had backed down and would sign the Lausanne treaty.

A Lausanne telegram to the Evening News quoted Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation in the Near East peace conference, as saying:

"I am ready to sign the treaty and accept the allied terms now that I understand that the allied countries agree to defer the economic clauses for future discussion."

It was understood in semi-official circles that the French were pressing the British not to take any action that would prevent reopening of the negotiations. The French government informed the British government it was certain that affairs at Lausanne had not gone so far that they could not be patched up.

Attacks French, Italians

The Daily Press bitterly attacked the French and Italians, charging they were really responsible for the rupture at Lausanne.

According to the Daily Express, Franco-Italian insistence upon capitulations brought about dissensions at Constantinople which were reflected at Lausanne.

It was reported from Constantinople that a serious situation was brewing and that the allied high command were meeting with General Harrington, commander of the British troops, to consider measures of safety.

Me-ow! Local Cats To Invade Pasadena On Quest for Prize

GLENDALE'S prize kitties are being primped for the fashion promenade at Pasadena. You should know that the first annual cat show of the Pacific Cat Fanciers' & Breeders' association will be held in the Hotel Green, in Pasadena, February 12, 13 and 14.

And Glendale is noted for its cats. Ah, yes! Already the Jewel City has heard the cats meow several times in competition and blue-blooded, smoke-colored, chin-whiskered felines have been dragged in from all points between Angora and the alley with blue ribbon results.

This city will be represented by prize cats from the Verdugo Cattery, at 1159 Melrose avenue, owned by Dr. Libbie Ashcroft, president of the Glendale Cat club, and by others from the Matalija Cattery at the corner of Grand View avenue and Matilija road, owned by Miss Clarabel Grim.

Pasadena may as well expect Glendale to win first prize, anyway, in whatever it does.

It was the residence in Glendale of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, that brought Mr. and Mrs. Ravenscroft west in 1909, and they at first thought of settling in Seattle, Washington. However, after a four-years' visit there, they came on south and located in Glendale.

Mr. Ravenscroft became a Mason thirty-four years ago, taking all his degrees in New Albany. There he belonged to Pythagoras lodge, No. 355, F. & A. M.; to New Albany Royal Arch chapter, No. 17, R. A. M.; to New Albany Commandery No. 5,

PREDICTIONS FROM WEATHER BUREAU AT WASHINGTON POINT TO ZERO

Much Snow and Rain in Next Few Days; Warm in Southern California

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Another cold wave will grip almost the whole country tonight and continue for at least two days, the weather bureau announced today.

The cold wave is coming in from the northwest, the bureau said, bringing "truly wintry weather."

Below freezing weather will prevail tonight along the Texas coast, with abnormally cold temperature predicted for Brownsville and vicinity.

There will be much snow and rain in all the states east of the Mississippi for the next twenty-four hours, the bureau said, with temperatures hovering around the zero mark for the next two days.

The south will get its portion of the cold spell, the bureau announced, particularly Alabama and Florida tonight, and Tennessee tomorrow.

Snow to Continue

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Strong winds coming out of the northwest was the United States weather forecast for tonight in northern central states. A minimum temperature of 10 degrees with a continuation of the snow that began falling at 9:30 a. m., was predicted.

Warm in Southland

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Although weather forecasts from the east are to the effect that another cold wave is expected, California is warming up under the bright "western" sun.

The few extreme cold nights experienced in Southern California are past and the "land of sunshine and flowers" has delightful spring and summer weather in view clear until the winter of 1923, and that's a long way off.

The recent cold spell in Southern California was "unusual," the oldest inhabitant admits that. From now on, it is predicted, real Southern California weather will prevail.

Approval of the plan to hold a Merchants Industrial Exposition here from May 25 to June 4, as proposed by Harry L. Leavitt of Los Angeles, was given by the members of the Glendale Credit Association at their regular weekly meeting yesterday, when the project was discussed from every angle.

The site for the exposition is still to be selected by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Credit Association committee that are co-operating on the plan, and this is expected to be done within the next few days, when the plans for the project will be worked out in detail and the preliminary work will be undertaken.

The band that is to be a feature of the exposition has already been engaged by James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the other details are also in the hands of the committee members, who will report progress from week to week.

The government thermometer registered a minimum of 7 degrees and a maximum of 40 at the forester station Sunday, stated Dr. Dirks.

CAST CHOSEN FOR COMMUNITY PLAY AT EAGLE ROCK

Players Picked From Local Talent by Director for Coming Show

An entirely satisfactory cast that should meet with the approval of the most fastidious has been completed to appear in the production of the comedy of laughs, and well arranged errors, too, entitled, "Mrs. Bumstead-Leigh," presented by the Eagle Rock Community Players on the nights of February 14 and 15 at the Central school.

Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, whose achievements as a dramatic interpreter and director are well known, takes the title role in the production, and has secured a splendid supporting cast chosen entirely from local talent.

The cast was chosen from a variety of professions, several of the young real estate men having been secured to take part. L. B. Wilson, who is destined to reap a harvest of laurels, though he has not been featured in a local production, and Milton H. Berry, Jr., who assumed the role of the troublesome tombstone maker who had the good fortune to be the leading lady's former suitor, and the ill fortune to appear at the most inopportune time, will lend the production zest. Samuel Ratliff, also engaged in real estate, who formerly lived here, has been induced to follow the lure of the foot-lights, and Wallace Busse, who is with the Eagle Rock music company, will take the junior masculine lead, to play opposite Dorothy Squire, who needs no introduction to Eagle Rock play-goers.

Ladies in Cast

The supporting cast also will show the names of Mrs. R. L. Woodhouse, who is featured as the maid, Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison, Mrs. Ellen Terry, and Marjorie Morris, all of whom are showing a keen intelligence in portraying the parts in which they have been cast.

Philip W. Plumer is the surprise of the production. He is to assume the role of the elderly father in the play, and his dignity and poise are fitting surprisingly well into the part. He was formerly with Sierra Madre players.

GROUND FORMALLY BROKEN AT GLENDALE'S NEW SCHOOL SITE

Architect, Contractor Pledge Co-Operation In Speedy Completion of Work

GROUND was formally broken yesterday afternoon for the new plant of Glendale Union high school. Optimism was one of the features of the occasion. Definite promises were made that the new plant would be ready for occupancy by September 25.

Architect George M. Lindsey, who will supervise the erection of the building, expressed an opinion that the site was the most beautiful occupied by any high school in southern California. He stated that, as a resident of Glendale, he intends to take personal interest in the construction of the plant.

Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the Southern Branch of the University of California, made a three-minute speech in which he reminded his audience that no gauge had yet been invented which was capable of measuring the usefulness in the years to come of an educational institution.

"What we are doing today is really very significant," he remarked. "It is far more significant than our tardy or sluggish imaginations will let us understand."

Watch Teachers Work

The clear atmosphere and the sharp temperature invigorated those present and pep was quite noticeable especially among the high school students who got much enjoyment over watching the members of the faculty do their bit with the shovel.

Led by the High school band, a delegation from the student body marched about the site and outlined the exterior plan of the buildings. Guide markers were wound with ribbons of red and black, the colors of Glendale Union High school.

The Federated Parent-Teachers' association was represented by its president, Mrs. E. B. Moore of 1259 South Maryland avenue, while Mrs. W. Q. Widdows of 1246 Winchester avenue, was on the job as president of the High School P.-T. A.

Promise Quick Job

The North Pacific Construction company was represented by George Metry, who said that it was easier for him to superintend the erection of the plant than to make a speech. He pledged himself to do all in his power to see that the school is ready in time.

Besides several selections by the High School band, led by H. S. White, a mixed glee club was led by Mrs. C. A. Parker.

Ship Limps Into Port After Fight With Gale

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Officers and seamen of the Cunard liner Coronia brought her safely to port with 228 passengers today. Their heroism saved the ship from destruction in a 100 mile gale Wednesday, Captain E. G. Diggle said.

Waves piled higher than the ship and swept away a large ventilator supplying the lower decks with fresh air. Tons of water sweeping over the decks threatened to fill the cargo hold and cripple the ship. Officers and eight of the crew braved the dangers of being washed overboard or battered to death and covered the gap with a tarpaulin.

Coue Causes Cure of Paralytic, Is Claim

CHICAGO, Feb. 6. — Emile Coue's first Chicago audience broke into an uproar this afternoon when the French pharmacist apparently cured a man from the audience who said he had been paralyzed a year and five months.

After hearing the lecturer's formula for auto-suggesting health, the sufferer Otto Kropf, of Milwaukee, walked off the stage. He had been carried up there.

The audience had been indignantly hissing Coue, uttering yells and cat-calls because the Frenchman had been unable to accomplish anything with Howard Canter, whose hands shook with palsy despite telling himself he was getting "better and better." The noise approached bedlam in intensity when Kropf was carried up and what appeared to be a miracle performed.

"We have a right to live our lives as we want to," she said. "The people today have shaken off their medieval conventions."

Members of the club, who have inspected the building which is now nearing completion, have expressed themselves well pleased with the tile work installed under the direction of Joseph Fortunato, who for the past twelve years has been a resident of Glendale.

A huge mantelpiece about eight feet wide, of Batchelder tile, which extends to the ceiling, stands directly across the room from the main entrance. This carries in bas-relief the coat-of-arms of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

The Palm room, which divides the ballroom from the main reception room, is floored with blocks of quarry tile, nine inches square. Floors of the three retiring rooms in the building are of tile also.

An ornamental drinking fountain basin of tile is located in the Palm room. This is a rectangular receptacle which can be used either for gold fish or ferns.

PRESIDENT WILL SEE WEST COAST

Trip to California Planned as Part of Schedule During Recess of Congress

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—With congress packing its trunk for a long summer vacation—the first in eight years, President Harding is planning to spend a good part of the approaching summer swinging around some of the circles he neglected during the campaign of 1920, and which he has been too occupied to undertake since his entry into the White House two years ago.

Mr. Harding has not been what is known as a "traveling president." Aside from a couple of vacation trips to Florida and week-end jaunts not far from Washington, Mr. Harding has done little traveling since he became president. He probably has delivered fewer speeches away from Washington than any chief executive in recent years.

Busy With Duties

The president's friends explain this on the ground that few presidents have been so engrossed with public work as has Mr. Harding. He has had congress on his hands almost continually since he was inaugurated, which fact, coupled with the multiplicity of foreign complications that have beset the administration, has combined to keep the president's nose fairly close to the grindstone for two years.

Mr. Harding has not visited the Pacific coast since he first leaped into prominence in Chicago in 1920. During the campaign the Republican managers did not consider it necessary for him to make an extensive western tour, and since his inauguration the pressure of circumstances has been such that the trip has been continually postponed.

Coming to Coast

A coast trip was planned for fall, prior to the November elections but Mrs. Harding's illness and the president's desire to complete the ship subsidy program combined to prevent it.

Barring unforseen complications in the foreign situation, this summer will see Mr Harding on the Pacific coast, according to tentative plans now being formulated. The president has not fully decided whether to undertake the Alaskan trip this summer, but is favorably impressed with the idea, and if possible he will go, including in the journey a swing through the west.

Western Republicans are growing insistent that the president pay a visit to the coast. They pointed out that he never went west of Omaha since he became president, and they contend that he "owes" it to the states that gave him such great plurality in 1920 to pay a visit.

Will Placate West

There are also political arguments of no small weight being brought to the White House in favor of some western travelling. It has been pointed out that most of the so-called "unrest" in the country originated through the great grain and livestock belt that lies west of the Mississippi, as exemplified in the election of such "progressive" senators as Shipsted of Minnesota, and Frazier of North Dakota, and Wheeler of Montana, last November, and the Republican party prophets believe that a presidential journey through the west would "do much for the good of the order," as one administration leader expressed it.

The time is also rapidly approaching when a decision must be made as to whether President Harding will be a candidate to succeed himself in 1924. While the election is two years hence, nevertheless party politics, as it is played, demands that some authoritative word on this all-important subject be spoken by the end of this year at the latest.

Volcano's Heat Melts Snows on Mt. Lassen

REDDING, Cal., Feb. 6.—That there was a "hot time" on Mount Lassen, the United States' only "live" volcano, during the eruption last week, is shown by the way the snow had melted from the northern and western slopes.

Before the eruption, Lassen was robed in white to the tip of the crater, not a rock being visible anywhere. Today great patches of barren rock are revealed on the north and western sides extending far down the volcano's slope.

Immigration Restriction
Mother Earth Shimmies
Commodities Going Up

By Gil A. Cowan

IT is important for motorists to note that they must obtain their 1923 license plates by March 1 or suffer a penalty. Both the Southern California Auto club and the Los Angeles office of the State Motor Vehicle department are bending every effort to fill all orders before that date.

By another year it is expected that license fees will be changed for the legislature is considering cutting the cost to a minimum and deriving a highway maintenance fund from a tax on gasoline or tires or motor carriers' tax or all three means.

When one stops and considers the privilege of driving over California highways which is given by the license tags, it is about the most reasonable expenditure in the whole budget of personal or business expenses. Why, you can go from south of San Diego to near the Oregon line on one solid stretch of paving.

The roughest road of its kind between the state capitol and Los Angeles is found in the San Fernando valley of Los Angeles county between Burbank and Roscoe. This is a county highway and action should be taken immediately to have the bumps ironed out, although a new piece of paving would be better.

With ground hog day past and basketball season drawing to a close, attention of the community and coast and nation again turns to baseball—the one predominant American sport.

Glancing at one of Wood Cowan's cartoons the other day the writer was impressed with the angle which he put on the pastime. As a deterrent of crime there is no question but what baseball and other sports do more than all of the bluecoats in the country.

When a person is sitting in the bleachers at the ball park it is absolutely certain he is not doing something worse. One wonders if it is not the best policy to promote more clean sports for idle hours.

Greater restriction on immigration is promised as the result of the house committee's decision at the nation's capitol Monday. This proposed change to 2 per cent based on the population of 1890 will hold back the flood of undesirables who have been rushing to America in the last decade.

On the other hand, the opportunity of entry for the immigrants from those countries where America got its original crucibles will strengthen the stock which is forging to the front in world leadership.

This policy should meet with high favor among Americans.

Just at the time when everybody had got over the jazz craze along comes old Mother Earth doing a shimmy that has excited the telegraph wires for the last few days and made many sectors of the hemisphere tremble.

Tidal waves in Hawaii, seismic disturbances in northern California, here there and everywhere, shifting terrain which has caused no end of excitement.

Seems as though somebody should invent a stabilizer for this old world of ours.

Archimedes, who introduced the principle of the lever, said he could lift the world if he had some place for the fulcrum. We need an Archimedes to deal with earthquakes, etc.

In the meantime old Mount Hood is going to smoke away. Vesuvius is going to spit fire. Kilauea is going to seethe again and Popocatapetl is worthy of watching, too.

Steel prices going up. Lumber already has led the way and is going higher. Watch out for other commodities taking a jump during the next ninety days Money is to be made on the bull market. If you are going to buy, build or invest, do it today. Prosperity in America is gathering speed.

More than a month ago the writer predicted the lumber increase. Today these statements are not predictions. They are facts.

Incidentally, real property, including farm lands, residence lots, business sites, etc., are going to accrue in value during 1923. There are some real opportunities existing here today. Get in on the ground floor, folks.

By March 1 more than two and one-half million dollars' worth of building will be under way in Glendale. That means almost $100,000 spent daily for labor and materials.

Mr. Merchant, are you ready to get part of the business to be had?

Here's hoping so!

L. A. County Leads in Urban Property Values

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6—An increase of $77,586,709 during the past year in the value of urban property in California is noted by the State Board of Equalization in its biennial report submitted to Governor Friend W. Richardson.

The state board placed the total value of city property at $1,268,645,029, as against a value of $1,191,058,320 in 1921.

Los Angeles county headed the list with a valuation of $561,631,095. San Francisco ranked second, her property being listed at $296,993,670.

The value of non-operative property in the state was placed at $2,354,107,924.

CLAIMS $36,000, SUES FILM STAR

Attorney Claims Percentage On Pauline Fredericks' Movie Salary

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6.—Trial of the suit which promises to involve the ethical question of how far a lawyer has the right to go in social matters with his client, especially when the client is an internationally known screen and stage favorite, was ready to proceed before Judge Parker today. The litigants were C. P. Scharkanow, acting as assignee for George Edwin Joseph, New York attorney, and Pauline Frederick, actress.

Neither Miss Frederick nor Joseph was expected to be present at the trial, as their attorneys have declared they are in the east and are unable to attend in person.

Contract Alleged

The action was based on a contract Joseph was said to have secured for the star to appear before the camera with a motion picture concern. Joseph was to receive a per cent of her salary, it was stated, and is now seeking to recover $36,000 for services said to have been rendered in this manner.

In a counter-claim suit Miss Frederick seeks $31,000 which she claims she paid Joseph, together with $10,000 she declares she gave him to buy Liberty bonds and $5,847 Joseph was alleged to have collected for her and failed to give her.

REFUSE TO HALT DEATH SENTENCE

Free State General Asserts Executions of Rebels Will Continue

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—The Irish Free State will continue to execute republican irregular prisoners until the latter discontinue their way of terrorism, it was declared by officials today.

General Daly, replying to a resolution of the Tralee council, asking commutation of the death sentence of five republican prisoners, sent this message:

"Executions will end when train wrecking, murder and robbery ends. A truce is impossible with murderers."

Two tunnels were discovered leading into the Tralee jail.

Attack Guards

A band of armed men early today attacked the guards stationed about the wrecked residence of Solicitor Corrigan of the Free State government. One attacker was killed.

Irregulars set fire to a moving picture theatre in this city, causing an explosion in which seven persons were hurt.

The home of Hugh Kennedy, legal adviser to the Free State, was bombed, but the damage was slight.

Russ Military Advance Planned, Says Report

LONDON, Feb. 6.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen said:

"According to Helsingfors advices the soviet supreme war council, upon the suggestion of War Commissioner Leon Trotzky, secretly adopted a resolution to make a military advance in the spring on the pretext that the allies and the little entente intend to divide Central Europe. France is to retain the Ruhr. Poland will occupy portions of Eastern Germany. Lithuania will retain Memel. Rumania will seize Hungarian soil. All the Russian armories have been ordered to work at full speed."

Both Copenhagen and Helsingfors are known as "rumor factories" and reports from both cities are usually received with great reserve.

Visitors From North Seek Glendale Friends

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Densmore of Belt, Mont., and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Harmon of Tacoma, Wash., arrived in Glendale last evening to call on their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Merkle, who recently came to this city from Belt. But not having the street address of their friends, they have had difficulty in locating them.

The Evening News being willing to serve in the capacity of an information bureau, has been aiding in locating the Merkle family.

Exclusion of Asiatics Favored by Committee

The provision was adopted by a majority vote.

Big Art Collection Will Be Given City

Dr. Albert C. Barnes, noted chemist and art collector, of Philadelphia, has returned from Europe, where he gave orders for $600,000 worth of marble to be used in the construction of an art museum near Philadelphia, in which he will house his $6,000,000 modern art collection. He will then deed the museum to the public.

COMMUNITY SONG LEAFLETS READY

Will Be Distributed Among Local Organizations, Says Director

Alexander Stewart, who is directing the local Community Service institute, has announced that 2500 copies of the special song leaflets for use in the community singing will soon be available for Glendale organizations wishing them.

Included in the book are the texts of over fifty standard and popular songs of the better class.

Following the completion of the local music institute for the training of song leaders, it is expected that volunteer song leaders will be available for service throughout the community. Information concerning the song leaflets and leaders can be had by inquiring at the Community Service office at the Chamber of Commerce.

Urge Naval Flotilla To Sink Rum Runners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Put United States destroyers off the eastern coast to torpedo the rum smugglers and arm the seaboard with 16 inch rifles that will drive the whisky fleet thirty miles out—then America will be, in a measure, safe for prohibition.

That's the way the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church would solve liquor smuggling. William J. Bryan, endorsed the recommendation of the temperance board and added that foreign ships with liquor on board should not be permitted to enter our harbors under any circumstances. The temperance board said the three mile limit, outside of which the liquor ships now await opportunity to transport their wares ashore, should be extended as far as the heaviest artillery can shoot.

Operations of the rum runners were described as impudent warfare against the government. The only solution is use of the navy to capture or sink whisky ships, the temperance board said.

Legislation demanded by the board to curb violation of prohibition and narcotic laws included deportation of aliens convicted of violations; a law to make the purchaser of liquor criminally liable with the seller; further restricted immigration; United States to lead in international control of narcotics, and public officials to conform their habits to the prohibition law.

Prefers Glendale to Any Place on Earth

J. A. Robinson, proprietor of Robinson's Men's Shop, 114 South Brand boulevard, who is looking forward to the completion of his new business home nearby, is more than pleased with business in Glendale.

"I would rather be running a men's furnishing store here than be elected president of the United States," he jovially said this morning. And to think that he comes from Abe Lincoln's state, too.

"If people in the east knew just how conditions were here," he added, "all of them would arrange their affairs so they could move to Glendale. At least, I know I would."

That's true religion, folks!

Reporters Halt Trial Of Diva's Divorce Suit

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Newspaper reporters interrupted the hearing of Geraldine Farrar's divorce action against Lou Tellegen. A committee of them walked in to find out why they should not know what was being discussed. The hearing was postponed until a ruling could be had.

Transcripts of the evidence taken at the first hearing revealed that Jack Bogardus and August Larcen testified they were informed the beautiful Spanish woman living in Tellegen's Long Island bungalow was his half sister.

PLAN TO INSPECT HOSPITAL LANDS

Glendale Solon to Accompany Governor on Visit to Norwalk Oil Field

Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale will accompany Governor Friend W. Richardson next week on his inspection of the Norwalk state hospital lands which are now in the center of a rich oilfield, it is understood. The governor arrives in the Southland on Tuesday for a week.

Mr. Weller is a member of the committee appointed by the legislature to look into the advisability of selling the Norwalk property and it is probable that sufficient cash will be derived from the deal to rebuild the sanitarium. The Pacific colony lands near Pomona have been suggested as suitable for this purpose.

In the assembly the local solon is looked upon as an administration leader, working with Speaker Frank F. Merriam in the introduction of measures which are desired by the governor to carry out his economy program.

Eddie did as he was bid, and when he entered the little room he saw four Mexicans lolling about smoking cigarets while Grayson stood before a chair in which sat a man with his arms tied behind his back. Grayson turned to Eddie.

"This party here is the slick un that robbed the bank and got away on thet there Brazos pony thet miserable bookkeepin' dude gave him. The sergeant here an' his men are a-goin' to take him to Cuivaca in the mornin.' You stand guard over him 'til midnight, then they'll relieve you. They gotta get a little sleep first, though, an' I gotta get some supper. Don't stand fer no funny business now, Eddie," Grayson admonished him, and was on the point of leaving the office when a thought occurred to him. "Say, Shorter," he said, "they ain't no way of gettin' out of the little bedroom in the back there except through this room. The windows are too small for a big man to get through. I'll tell you what, we'll lock him up in there an' then you won't hev to worry none an' neither will we. You can jest spread out them Navajos there and go to sleep right plum up ag'in the door an' there won't nobody hev to relieve you all night."

"Sure," said Eddie, "leave it to me—I'll watch the slicker."

Satisfied that their prisoner was safe for the night the Villistas and Grayson departed, after seeing him safely locked in the back room.

At the mention by the foreman of his guard's names—Eddie and Shorter—Billy had studied the face of the young American cowpuncher, for the two names had aroused within his memory a tantalizing suggestion that they should be very familiar. Yet he could connect them in no way with anyone he had known in the past and he was quite sure that he never before had set eyes upon this man.

Sitting in the dark with nothing to occupy him Billy let his mind dwell upon the identity of his jailer, until, as may have happened to you, nothing in the whole world seemed equally as important as the solution of the mystery. Even his impending fate faded into nothingness by comparison with the momentous question as to where he had heard the name Eddie Shorter before.

As he sat puzzling his brain over the inconsequential matter something stirred upon the floor close to his feet, and presently he jerked a booted foot that a rat had commenced to gnaw upon.

"Helluva place to stick a guy," mused Billy, "in wit a bunch o' man-eatin' rats. Hey!" and he turned his face toward the door. "You, Eddie! Come here!"

Eddie approached the door and listened.

"Wot do you want?" he asked. "None o' your funny business, you know. I'm from Shawnee, Kansas, I am, an' they don't come no slicker from nowhere on earth. You can't fool me."

Shawnee, Kansas! Eddie Shorter! Eddie Shorter! The whole puzzle was cleared in Billy's mind in an instant.

"So you're Eddie Shorter of Shawnee, Kansas, are you?" called Billy. "Well I know your maw, Eddie, an' ef I had such a maw as you got I wouldn't be down here wastin' my time workin' alonside of a lot of Dagos; but that ain't what I started out to say, which was that I want a light in here. The damned rats are tryin' to chaw off me kicks an' when they're done wit them they'll climb up after me an' old man Villa'll be sore as a pup."

"You know my maw?" asked Eddie, and there was a wistful note in his voice. "Aw shucks! you don't know her—that's jest some o' your funny, slicker business. You wanna git me in there an' then you'll try an' git aroun' me some sort o' way to let you escape; but I'm too slick for that."

"On the level Eddie, I know your maw," persisted Billy. "I ben in your maw's house jest a few weeks ago. 'Member the Bible on the little, marble-topped table? Eh? An' Tige? Well, Tige's croaked; but your maw an' your paw ain't an' they want you back, Eddie. I don't care ef you believe me, son, or not; but your maw was mighty good to me, an' you promise me you'll write her an' then go back home as fast as you can. It ain't everybody's got a swell maw like that, an' them as has aught to be good to 'em."

Beyond the closed door Eddie's jaw was commencing to tremble. Memory was flooding his heart and his eyes with sweet recollections of an ample breast where he used to pillow his head, of a big, capable hand that was wont to smooth his brow and stroke back his red hair. Eddie gulped.

"You ain't joshin' me?" he asked. Billy Byrne caught the tremor in the voice.

"I ain't kiddin' you, son," he said. "Wotinell do you take me fer—one o' these greasy Dagos? You an' I're Americans—I wouldn't string a home guy down here in this here God-forsaken neck o' the woods."

Billy heard the lock turn, and a moment later the door was cautiously opened, revealing Eddie safely ensconced behind two six-shooters.

"That's right, Eddie," said Billy, with a laugh. "Don't you take no chances, no matter how much sob stuff I hand you, fer. I'll give it to you straight, ef I get a chance I'll make my getaway; but I can't do it wit my flippers trussed, an' you wit a brace of gats sittin' on me. Let's have a light, Eddie. That won't do nobody any harm, an' it may discourage the rats."

Eddie backed across the office to a table where stood a small lamp. Keeping an eye through the door on his prisoner he lighted the lamp and carried it into the back room, setting it upon a commode which stood in one corner.

"You really seen maw?" he asked. "Is she well?"

"Looked well when I seen her," said Billy; "but she wants her boy back a whole lot. I guess she'd look better still ef he walked in on her some day."

"I'll do it, cried Eddie. "The minute they get money for the gay I'll hike. Tell me your name. I'll ask her ef she remembers you when I get home. Gee! but I wish I was walkin' in the front door now."

"She never knew my name," said Billy; "but you tell her you seen the bo that mussed up the two yeggmen who rolled her an' were tryin' to croak her wit a butcher knife. I guess she ain't forgot. Me an' my pal were beatin' it—he was on the square but the dicks was after me—an' she let us have money to make our getaway. She's all right, kid."

There came a knock at the outer door. Eddie sprang back into the front room, closing and locking the door after him, just as Barbara entered.

"Eddie," she asked, "may I see the prisoner? I want to talk to him."

"You want to talk with a bank robber?" exclaimed Eddie. "Why you ain't crazy are you, Miss Barbara?"

"No, I'm not crazy; but I want to speak with him alone for just a moment, Eddie—please."

TODAY—Americans living in Berlin suffer from the German impression that all Americans are "dollar rich," writes Karl M. Elish.

TOMORROW—Don't travel in Ireland, advises Daniel O'Connell, correspondent in Dublin.

By KARL M. ELISH
For International News Service

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—There is an idea prevalent in the States that an American has an easy time of it here. It is high time that idea is corrected.

Americans don't have an easy time of it here, or anywhere in Germany. Life is just one battle after another. You have to fight to get a place to live, to get a seat on a train—even to get your dollars changed into marks.

Above all, you have to fight to keep the amiable natives from separating you from your money. The owner of an American accent is a bright and shining target. Prices go up automatically when he appears, and change comes anywhere from a hundred to a thousand marks short.

It's uncanny how hotel and restaurant bills get added up wrong—always in excess, of course. And even more uncanny is the regularity with which the mistake occurs in the column where a mistake in addition of only one figure means a difference of a thousand marks.

This doesn't happen everywhere. There are places where a stiff price is charged all comers, Germans as well as Americans.

For a long while it was possible for Americans to live here in style for insignificant sums. Internal prices were low, and the dollar bought a lot of marks. Latterly, however, the advance in prices has caught up with the depreciation of the mark, and prices continue to advance, even in the periods when the mark temporarily ceases to depreciate.

Wherefore a lot of Americans are faced with the necessity of increasing their incomes or revising their scale of living downward.

And now, to cap the climax, the German financial authorities are revising income taxes upward in such a radical fashion that all hands—including Americans—whose income is more than $10 per week, will have to pay a 75 per cent tax.

The cause of all this nicking of Americans, of course, is that Germany and the Germans are hard up. The country gets poorer and poorer every day, as regards material wealth. Deprived, under the treaty of Versailles, of much of its wealth-producing territory—the territory that yielded iron and coal—Germany is now consuming more than it produces. The Russian markets that once spelled prosperity are now gone, and with its productive powers seriously impaired by constant labor squabbles, Germany finances the purchase of essential foreign raw materials by the emission of paper money. Wherefore the mark falls lower and under the double influence of a depreciating currency and diminishing supply of commodities, prices keep on rising.

As a result of thinking about the vast number of marks that can be bought for a dollar, the German people have gotten the idea into their heads that money means nothing to Americans.

Not olng ago an American newspaper man stationed here was approached by a German representing a jewelry concern which needed an additional half billion marks or so of capital.

"And what is a half billion marks to you, my dear sir?" exclaimed the German. "Only $5000."

The American hasn't convinced the German yet that $5000 is a lot of money.

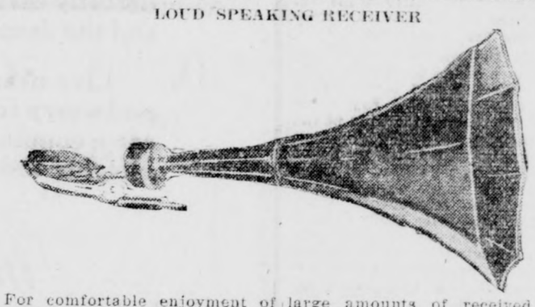
The "curse of the dollar" has penetrated even into social life. An American circulating in German society is likely to be reminded twenty times a day that he belongs to the tribe of "dollar rich" Americans. The reminders range from plaintive recollections of the day when four marks equaled one dollar to only slightly veiled insults. As a result, many Americans living here avoid Germany company.

And these are only a few of the reasons why Americans in Berlin wear long faces.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

LOUD SPEAKING RECEIVER



For comfortable enjoyment of a broadcasted concert a loud speaker is a necessity. The illustration shows a loud speaker that should appeal to the discriminating experimenter. This device consists of a special telephone receiver capable of handling fairly large amounts of received current and of an impedance high enough to be inserted directly in the plate circuit of the amplifier or detector. This receiver is equipped with a special shell, bearing a threaded portion to which the horn is attached.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

By LIEUT JOHN R. IRWIN
U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

UNDAMPED WAVE TRANSMITTERS

Undamped oscillations are not broken into groups like damped oscillations. Exactly similar current cycles follow one another continuously, except as they are interrupted by the sending key, or subjected to gradual fluctuations of intensity as when used in radio telephony. Undamped oscillations are produced by a high frequency alternator, an arc, or by vacuum tubes. In these articles we will deal with each method in that order.

The main advantages of the undamped, or, as they are also known continuous waves, are the following:

1. Extremely sharp tuning is obtained and consequent reduction of interference between stations working close together. A slight change of adjustment throws a receiving set out of tune and the operator may pass over the correct tuning point by too rapid a movement of the receiving adjusting dials.

2. Radio telephony is made possible.

3. Since the oscillations go on continuously instead of only a small fraction of the time, as in the case of damped waves, their amplitudes need not be so great, hence the voltages applied to the transmitting condenser and antenna are much lower.

4. With damped waves the pitch or tone of the received signals depends entirely upon the number of sparks per second of the transmitter. With undamped waves the receiving operator controls the tone of the received signals and this can be varied and made as high as desired, within certain audible limits, to distinguish it from "static," and to suit the sensitiveness of the receiving operator's ear and the telephones used in reception.

These advantages, freedom from interference from other stations through selective tuning, the high tones and low voltages, and the greater freedom from strays combine to permit of a higher speed of telegraphy than could otherwise be obtained with other classes of transmission.

Land Fraud Victims Tell of Purchases

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Desert land was the leading product from "fertile land" sold to them by the Daniel Hayes Company, according to testimony of two witnesses who appeared in federal court against Daniel Hayes and eleven other defendants, charged with using the mails to defraud.

Hayes and his associates are alleged to have obtained more than $4,000,000 from the sale of worthless land in California.

Dr. Warren B. Weiss, of Sheffield, Ill., testified he bought sixty acres of the land in 1918 for $2800. When he went to California on a visit, he said, he found that most of it was covered with alkali.

The second witness was Louis Eichmeier, a farmer of Rockford, Iowa, who declared he purchased eighty acres in 1919. For this he traded in 500 shares of stock in the Daniel Hayes company at $15 a share.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TICKLER

"Uncle Wiggily, I have just baked a lovely pie," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Your pies are always lovely," said Uncle Wiggily with a low and polite bow. At the same time he sniffed with his pink, twinkling nose. "And this one smells extra fine," he added. "May I ask when you are going to cut it and give me a bit?" he asked.

"Oh, this pie isn't to be cut," said Nurse Jane.

"Is it just to look at?" asked the rabbit.

"No, I baked it for Grandpa Goosey Gander," the muskrat lady said, "and I wish you would take it to him."

"I will," said Uncle Wiggily, kindly, "but what about a pie for me?"

"I'll have one baked for you by the time you come back," promised Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Now I'll put Grandpa's pie in a basket to keep it warm, and you hop along with it."

Soon the bunny rabbit gentleman was making his way over the snow-covered fields and through the woods on his way to the home of the goose grandpa. Now and then Uncle Wiggily stopped to twinkle his pink nose, for a most delicious smell came from the basket he was carrying on one paw.

"My, this certainly is a lovely pie!" murmured Mr. Longears. "I can hardly wait until I get back to my bungalow to eat the one Nurse Jane is baking for me."

It was rather a long way to Grandpa Goosey's house, and as the snow was pretty deep on the ground Uncle Wiggily soon began to feel a bit tired.

"I'll sit down on this log and rest," said the bunny to himself as he saw a fallen tree near a clump of scraggily bushes, with their branches sticking out every which way. "It won't do the pie any harm if I rest a moment," thought Uncle Wiggily.

So he sat down on the log with his back to the bushes and the pie in the basket he placed in front of him. Uncle Wiggily was thinking how good and kind Nurse Jane was when, all of a sudden the bunny felt himself being tickled in the ribs.

"Oh, ho! Ha Ha!" chuckled the bunny. "How funny that makes me feel! I wonder who is tickling me?"

He looked behind him but all he saw was the waving scraggily branches of the old bush behind the log on which he was sitting.

"I guess the wind blew the bush and some of the branches tickled me," thought Uncle Wiggily.

He twinkled his pink nose, took another long and delicious sniff of the warm pie in the basket and said:

"Well, I guess I'd better travel on to Grandpa Goosey's!"

But just then, all of a sudden, he felt himself being tickled in the ribs again, an dhe had to laugh.

"Ha! Ha! Ho. Ho!" chuckled the bunny. "This is certainly funny! I'm tickled by the wind blowing the scraggily bush!"

But as Uncle Wiggily looked at the bush he saw, staring from it, two big brown eyes, and he saw a big nose and he saw a big animal covered with brown furry skin.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Don't be afraid," said a kind voice. "I won't hurt you. I am only a reindeer and it was my branching horns that tickled you. I am standing behind the bush and my horns, sticking out, look like the bush branches, I suppose. When I moved my head my horns tickled you."

"Oh! Oh!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, so they did," answered Uncle Wiggily. "But why did you move your head?"

"I was trying to see where the delicious smell came from," said the reindeer, as he stepped out from the bush.

"It's this pie in the basket you smell," said the bunny. And just then along came the Woozie Wolf crying:

"I want that pie and I want ear nibbles! I'll nibble Uncle Wiggily!"

"Oh, will you. Well, then, I'll tickle you!" said the deer. And reaching out with his long, sharp horns the deer tickled the Wolf very hard—much harder than the bunny had been tickled.

"Oh, ouch, Oh, wow! Oh, ha ha! Ho! Ho!" howled the Wolf and then he laughed so hard that he flipped himself head over heels up a tree in a somersault and before he could get down Uncle Wiggily and the deer ran safely away.

Then Uncle Wiggily took the pie to Grandpa Goosey, and Grandpa Goosey gave the deer some pie for being so kind to the bunny gentleman. And then Mr. Longears hopped to his bungalow where Nurse Jane had baked a cabbage pie for him.

So all ended happily, and if the sugar spoon doesn't try to ride on the egg beater, thinking it's a merry-go-'round, you shall next hear about Uncle Wiggily and Jollie's cousin.

Quakes Missed Alaska Say Wireless Reports

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—Wireless reports to Captain Dodd, Pacific coast superintendent of naval communications, stated that no earthquakes were felt Saturday in Alaska. Inasmuch as the reports covered all the important Alaskan stations, it practically eliminated that section of the globe from the hunt for the center of the severe earth or sea quakes of Saturday.

Previous direct wireless advices to International News Service from Samoa, in the South seas, had advised no quake or tidal waves were noted in that section of the globe.

Bill Would Stabilize Nation's Wheat Market

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Proposing governmental control of wheat prices, Senator Gooding, Republican, of Idaho, introduced a bill in the senate to create a $300,000,000 federal "wheat stabilization corporation for the establishment of fair returns to American farmers."

Gooding proposed a basic price of $1.75 a bushel for No. 1 northern spring wheat. The corporation would be controlled by the secretary of agriculture and two directors to be named by the president.

NEED FOR PARENTS

Judge Ben B. Lindsey, head of the Juvenile Court of Denver, says: "My experience, study and investigation of juvenile life has convinced me that parents need to be taught the fundamentals of child rearing. I firmly believe that not more than twenty per cent of parents are relatively, and comparatively, competent to raise children."

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary ills, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on this woman's testimony.
Mrs. J. M. Derr, 757 Earlham St., Pasadena, Cal., says: "The first symptom of kidney complaint in my case was backache. When I first got up in the morning, there was a lameness and soreness through my kidneys and across my loins, but after I had been on my feet awhile about the house, the pain eased up a little. I was extremely nervous and became easily excited. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and one box cured the backache and the nervousness left me."

ON DEAD CATS

I have a friend who is a beautiful housekeeper.

Her home is always immaculate and in perfect order. It has to be, because if it is not, if there is a rug askew, if there are finger marks on the white paint, if the hearth is a bit untidy, she cannot be happy until she has corrected the defect.

Often, when she is in great need of rest she will see something that ought to be done and, instead of relaxing, will wash a few windows or wash out the living room curtains or oil the floor.

She Sees Nothing Else

When her husband begs her not to work so hard and to try to be content if things are not so perfect, she says: "They bother me so that I can't rest. I can't see anything else in the room but those soiled curtains or those finger marks."

I believe she thinks that is a virtue.

I don't. I think it is a fault. Or rather I should say a misfortune.

Not to be able to see anything in her beautiful room except one small defect. Poor foolish woman. How much of the joy she misses out of life by closing her eyes to the beautiful and opening them to the unbeautiful.

There is an old story about Emerson and Carlyle to this effect: Emerson had been making the trip up the Thames, and was very enthusiastic about it. He was talking to Carlyle about its beauty and the old cynic remarked dryly: "Did tha see the dead cats, Ralph?"

Whereat Emerson replied simply:

"No, Thomas, I did not see the dead cats."

That was all, but it was enough.

Of course Emerson didn't see the dead cats when there were beautiful shores and boats and a sunset to see.

And of course Carlyle didn't see the sunset when there were dead cats around. That was the essence of both of them.

If you are going to see dead cats everywhere in life you will be no happier than poor Carlyle was.

But if you can look across the dead cats to see the sunset you will have some of the serenity and content that was Emerson's.

Where One Ought to See Them

Of course there are people who don't see the dead cats when they ought to see them because it is their job to remove them.

But there are more people who see nothing else even though they have no idea of removing them.

The friend of whom I spoke not only sees the dead cats in her own home, when she ought to close her eyes to them and rest, but she also sees them in other people's homes.

If you let them, dead cats will dominate your outlook on life. But why let them?

Poison Mystery Seen In Deaths of Three

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6. — Three persons suffered sudden death as a result of what police believe to be a poison mystery in a house in East Fifty-third street. Those who died were identified as Mrs. A. Northy, 36, Mrs. Bessie Lee and Joseph Picraux. The two women made their residence at the house and the man was said to be a visitor there.

The case became more of a mystery when F. Hulmes, who discovered the tragedy, told the police he had breakfast with the trio and when he departed all were apparently in good health. Mrs. Northy's 13-year-old daughter, Meril, also ate breakfast with the others and then went to school.

No trace of escaping gas or poison was found in the residence, according to the police, who immediately launched an investigation to determine the cause of death.

Beauty Chats

By Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

Troubled Jane. — Instead of carrying powder about with you carry a small chamois to remove excessive oiliness of the skin. Go without powder when it refuses to stick.

Reduction.—If you could get along with an orange, a slice of dry toast and a cup of hot coffee without cream or sugar for breakfast, it would help a lot in reducing you. If you feel this is not enough food to give you energy for your morning work, add a soft boiled egg. Eat all the fruit and green vegetables you can. Your skin will clear and your weight will decrease.

Dainty Fingers.—Bleaches, put under the nails to make the ends dead white, are not necessary because the transparency of a clean nail is much more attractive to the eye. The various glosses that are painted on the nails to take the place of a polish are too drying to be healthy and, even if quite harmless, their high glitter is in bad taste. If a small amount of oil or cream is rubbed into the nails each day and they are polished regularly with the buffer, they will be smooth and glossy.

Constant Reader:—Any stimulating daily face treatment will gradually smooth out the scars left by pimples. Meantime you must take care of your diet so that no new blemishes appear. If your skin is oily, the ice rubs will make it fine grained and will also overcome cleansing powder which will clear up the skin. Consult your doctor regarding the moles.

J. P. T.—If your hair is naturally an auburn color and is turning grey, you can restore its original shade by using Egyptian henna. Make a paste of henna powder and hot water and after you have shampooed and dried your hair, cover it with this paste. Let it stay on from fifteen minutes to two hours—the longer it stays on, the richer the shade you obtain. Rinse off the paste with warm water.

Bow Legs:—If you are noticeably bowlegged, you can wear braces to overcome this defect, even if you are 18 years old. Ask your doctor to recommend a good type brace.

New Reader:—You might try massaging the bust every day with cocoa butter. This is well known as a tissue builder.

Ellen T. F.—The yellow marks on your face are probably due to some kidney or liver trouble. Your doctor can recommend the proper diet and tonics to overcome this.

Dorothy B. R.—A flesh-building cream massaged into the skin will build up the tissues. Follow this with astringent treatment to tone the skin and the lines will disappear.

Tomorrow—Glossy Nails.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

F. L. C. "Not long ago one of your Column Readers wrote about an iodine stain on her husband's shirt. My recent experience might interest her. Not long ago there was, what I supposed, a large iodine spot on a mattress. I mixed starch and cold water to put on the spot and 24 hours later when I brushed off the starch, the iodine stain was gone."

Answer: Thank you, Reader Friend, for sending us this method.

M. C. R.: "What can I do for a brass-and-enamel bedstead on which the sheet brass is worn off in spots and some of the enamel is also gone?"

Answer: If only laquer is worn off brass, the lacquer can be reapplied after the brass is polished. But when the brass itself is gone, then the only thing to do is to return the bed to a brass factory to have it done over. The enamel parts, however, you can do over yourself. Sandpaper down the edges of the worn places and try touching these up by applying fresh enamel which matches the old enamel. If the result looks badly, however, you will have to scrape off all the old enamel and repaint it.

L. E. T.: "One of your Column Readers asked for directions for crocheting a Doughnut Bean Bag. Here are mine: Buy a moderate size of brown silkateen. Chain 50 stitches. Join Ch 3, then 1 d. c. in each chain. (By 'd. c.' I mean thread over once only before going through into chain.) Join.

Second Row: Widen by putting 2 d. c. in every fifth stitch. Third Row: Just like first row.

Now widen fourth, sixth and eighth rows. Make nine rows in all. Break thread. Go to original chain and make 1 d. c. in other side of each stitch of chain. Then make second half just like first. After nine rows are completed, crochet the two parts together, leaving a small hole through which to fill very tightly with kidney beans."

Answer: Thank you for sending us these directions. Seven other readers have sent me directions for crocheting a bean bag, too—but I have published yours first because it reached me first. I shall soon publish the others if they are not too much alike. It is nice to feel that there are readers among us who are always ready to help other women when they can.

Police Hold Suspect In Robbery of Mint

LAREDO, Texas, Feb. 6. — A man giving his name as Reddick is being held here by police in connection with the United States mint robbery in Denver several weeks ago in which a guard was killed and $200,000 in currency stolen by bandits.

Reddick, who said he is 19 years of age, was arrested by United States immigration officers as he came across the international bridge from Neuvo Laredo, Mexico.

He is said to have admitted that he took part in the Denver robbery by driving the automobile which the bandits used. He denied getting any money, police say, and claims that after leaving the mint he was knocked in the head and thrown out of the automobile by the bandits, recovering consciousness before being discovered and making his escape.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ACIDOSIS, NO. II

As I told you yesterday, the blood and tissue fluids are slightly alkaline in reaction and probably never become acid during life. However, when the alkalinity of the blood and tissue fluids is reduced below normal, the system becomes disordered and gives evidence of its disorder. When there is this lowered alkalinity, the condition is known as acidosis.

Among the symptoms are shortness of breath, nervousness, mental depression, drowsiness, rheumatic pains, neuritis, skin disorders and, in the more severe forms, convulsions and unconsciousness.

In the digestion and assimilation of our foods and in the breaking down and repair of our tissues, many acids are formed and it is only when these are excessively formed or are not eliminated that the acids accumulate and acidosis results.

The over-eating of meat and fats is especially liable to cause an acidosis; although the over-eating of carbohydrates, especially of sugar, can also cause an acidosis because of the acids formed in their fermentation as well as their normal production of acids. Many overweight persons suffer from acidosis from general over-eating and under-exercising.

When foods containing an excess of acids (except most of the fruit acids) are consumed—and especially when these are taken over a normal amount—you can see that you may be going in the direction of acidosis. It is quite important to include in your diet foods which counteract this acid production. That is, foods which have a large element of the base or alkali forming properties.

The reason most fruit acids are not productive of acidosis is because their acids are accompanied with soda and potash—alkalies. And in the body the acids are burned, leaving the alkalies. So their effect is to increase the alkalinity of the body rather than diminish it.

Milk and vegetables, as well as fruits, contain a larger proportion of the alkalies than do meats or fats.

Naunyn has shown that it is necessary for a person to eat from 200 to 300 C's (two or three ounces of carbohydrates—starches and sugars) to prevent acidosis. The reason so many persons have undermined their health by reducing their weight on the numerous eat-and-grow-thin menus, that have been given to the public by laymen who did not understand the chemistry of foods nor of the body, is because these menus eliminated all starches and sugars and all fats. Those who followed the systems for any length of time developed a condition of acidosis.

That is the reason I said in my first article that I wanted my F. F. F's. to read this series. I want you to realize that in your zeal to reduce you must make sure you get the elements that are needed for your system. Cut down the fats and the carbohydrates markedly—and the meat and fish if you have been over-eating of them—but do not cut them out entirely.

Those who are suffering from acidosis should avoid meats and cereals too, because cereals are also in the class of so-called acid-producing foods. The following foods have a considerable amount of acids in them: Meats of all sorts—especially lean meats, meat extracts; eggs—they tend to acidify, but less than does meat; cereals of all sorts, including bread; a few fruits, particularly cranberries, plums and prunes.

All other fruits, green vegetables and root vegetables are strongly basic and tend to alkalinize the tissue fluids. Milk is also slightly alkaline.

From those foods those who suffer from acidosis should select their menus. Now this does not mean that you cannot eat the foods that have the acid-forming propensities, but that you should eat them in moderation. And be sure that you have enough of the foods that do not have a tendency to form acids, to counterbalance them. Eat potatoes instead of bread.

Council Rejects Ordinance Calling for Injection of Rabies Serum

Neither dogs nor cats must be vaccinated now in Glendale!

The proposed ordinance requiring all dogs and cats to be treated so as to preclude the possibility of their getting rabies last night was killed by the City Council.

To bring the matter to an issue, Councilman Sam Davis called for a vote upon the ordinance. It was unanimously rejected.

The Glendale Cat club, through its officers, has sent the following letter to the City Council:

"Believing it is the intention of your body to enact only such legislation as is favorable to the welfare of the citizens of this city, we, the officers of the Glendale Cat club, representing that organization, respectfully request you to eliminate any reference to cats in the pending ordinance requiring the vaccination of same against rabies.

Claim Cats Immune

"Upon consultation of all procurable statistics issued by the state of California and the United States government, we are unable to discover any authenticated cases of rabies among domestic cats, hence our objection to the administration of vaccine for a disease which has not been demonstrated in our community or in any other part of the United States.

"If, in the future, a case or cases of rabies among felines should develop, the Glendale Cat club will endorse and work for any legislation necessary to cope with the situation.

As the baseball training season draws near it might be a good idea to look over a few of the most promising recruits that are coming up from the minors this season.

Foremost among these good youngsters is Jack Bentley, obtained from the Baltimore Club of the International League by the N. Y. Giants. This big fellow is at one and the same time the leading pitcher, a top-notch batter and a first baseman—all rolled in one. Looks like Bentley is just about a whole team by himself.

In 1921 Jack headed batters with an average of .421, taking part in 141 games. The following year he hit for .349, standing in third among the swatters. These records were made with a splendid team, one that completely outclassed every other nine in the circuit. In the same year, by winning 13 and losing 2 games, Jack led the International pitchers. For four years the Orioles have nailed the pennant. The last three seasons Jack has won 50 games and lost five. Quite some record.

Bentley is a native of Sandy Springs, Maryland. He was born 27 years ago, weighs 200 and stands 6 feet, with a build like Jack Dempsey's.

This is not his first time in the majors. Back in 1918 he was drafted by the Red Sox but was relinquished to the Washington Club, which in turn, sent him back to Baltimore. He spent some time in the army and upon his return to the Orioles had some trouble with his arm, but managed to get it back in good enough shape to pitch his team to 16 victories out of 19 starts in 1920.

Bentley is an impressive home run clouter, and the star of the International batsmen. He is a clean living fellow and a great left handed pitcher. With such ability, Jack ought to more than make good with a club like the Giants to back up his hurling.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Bill Unmack

Are world's champion Jack Dempsey and his manager Jack Kearns "insane" regarding financial matters?

That is a question that the general public of the United States is trying to diagnose. That a boxer refuses to enter the ring unless he gets half a million dollars is at last sinking into the brain of the public as an unreasonable demand. Kearns and Dempsey have been trying to fool the public that there is no one to fight. There are at least half a dozen heavyweights in this country alone that the champion could meet if he is sincere in his desire to fight.

The public will stand for so much, but even a worm will turn and every road has a turning. The end of the road has been reached. Tex Rickard has seen the writing on the wall and refuses to meet the insane and prejudiced demands of the champion and his manager. There is not another promoter in the country who can afford to give the financial terms that Rickard can and there is not a promoter in the country with the ability to finance such a fight or who has the same public confidence that Rickard has.

Kearns and Dempsey must realize that there are men to fight, but none of them will draw the gate receipts that the Dempsey-Carpentier fight drew. Any one of the half dozen men in the heavyweight division now clamoring for a chance at Dempsey would with the champion as the magnet draw at least a half million gate, but there are grave doubts if they can draw more than that sum, notwithstanding all that Kearns may think to the contrary.

When one stops to think that the executive head of this great nation, President Warren G. Harding, receives only $75,000 a year salary, and puts all his time and energy into the work of his office, it is a joke to think of the demands of a prize fighter asking half a million dollars for a few minutes' physical work in a boxing arena. The amount that Dempsey asks for one bout is enough to pay the salary of the president of the United States for nearly seven years or almost for two presidential terms.

It is also out of proportion to compare the recompense of a present-day world heavyweight champion with the money received by the champions of a decade ago. Times have changed and the present-day champion due to an increase of public interest in boxing, is entitled to more than the old day boxers. He earns it, but he does not earn a half million dollars, nor is he entitled to any such amount. It is a joke that such a gigantic amount should be demanded for a fight by one man. It means increased prices for the public to pay which they paid for one fight, but they will not continue to be fooled much longer and no one realizes that better than Promoter Tex Rickard. The promoter is a fair-minded and business-like man and he realizes that there is not a chance in the world for him to even break even on the demands made by Kearns and Dempsey. The boxing fans of the country are starting to see Rickard's side of the question and the utter lack of reason in the demands of the fighter and his manager. Rickard by his stand will have an even stronger public support than he has ever had.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Baseball Players' Union, needing friends no more than a collar needs its button, will commend itself to public acceptance if it shows a disposition to confine more of its attention to keeping baseball clean and less to the policy of polite hold-up of club owners.

The Union is the master of its own fate. It can create an excellent impression, and at the same time butter its own bread, if it comes out in the open with a constructive policy. Let it become obstructive or destructive and the organization will defeat its own ends. The public will waste little sympathy on prospective strikers whose only injustice is that not all of them are able to squeeze $500 out of a twenty-one-hour week.

One of the stated objects in the Union's charter is to prevent "clouds of suspicion against baseball, such as have arisen in recent years, from arising in the future." It will do well to confine much of its activity to this worthy cause if it wishes to be accepted with greater alacrity by the public.

As matters stand, baseball is still under some suspicion, and the fault lies with the player himself. He is, ninety-nine times out of one hundred, quite honest, but he seems to be laboring under the delusion that if he voices his suspicions concerning a fellow player he will be deemed guilty of some obscure form of dishonor. He has an abiding fear of being known as a "squealer."

Men like Eddie Collins and Ray Schalk might have dissipated some of the malodorous results of the White Sox expose had they proclaimed the evidence of their eyes at the time the plot was being carried out. Schalk is said to have engaged in a fist fight with Claude Williams after the second game of the series because Williams persisted in crossing him in signals; yet, after he mentioned the matter to a newspaper man and the story was published, it is our impression that he issued a flat denial.

An expose at that time would have been unsavory enough, but it would have vindicated baseball as a sport that was immune to conspiracy. As it was, the denouement was delayed more than a year, and meantime eight dishonest men were allowed to play ball and draw salaries.

The loyal members of the team treated those under suspicion like outcasts, but they kept silent and thus compounded a felony. The old fear of beng tabbed stool-pigeons again!

More recently, however, Leslie Mann didn't hesitate in turning over Phil Douglas' treasonable letter to the proper authorities, and Douglas was hurried out of baseball before any real harm was done. A few more Leslie Manns and the Baseball Players' Union would benefit accordingly.

Mike Yokel, the wrestler, is a living embodiment of the old saying that hope springs eternal in the human breast. Mike says he is 38 years old and that a wrestler doesn't begin to hit his stride until he is 40 and that he expects to be the champion by the time he is 50 years old. This offers considerable food for reflection to those semi-centenarians who think their days of athletic activity are at an end.

Owing to the unusually cold weather in California this spring, all forms of outdoor athletics including rowing and track and field have been set back a couple of weeks so that the sons of the Golden state are not going to have the usual running start on their opponents who hail from the usually colder climes.

That basketball is not the parlor game that some persons are prone to think it is proven by the fact that there have been quite a number of broken bones and dislocated joints in recent weeks, according to the reports carried in the various newspapers of the country. The probabilities are that if there were no risk involved it would be about as popular as croquet with the red blood of youth who play the game.

In all of the minor sports competitions held between the University of California and Stanford, the latter's teams hold a commanding margin of victory during the past decade. It is only in the major sports—the important ones of course—that California has a big advantage over the Cardinal.

Player Signs Contract At Increased Salary

BIG LEAGUES TO DECLINE TRADES

Club Owners Agree Not to Assist Players Who Are Chronic Dissenters

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Those highly sensitive individuals who suffer an annual affront because the contract tendered them is not compatible with the overhead cost of steam yachts, will neither be sold nor traded elsewhere in the major leagues this spring. That is the essence of an agreement, resumed by club owners of the big time circuits. In other words it is a case of the austere order of infuriated magnates versus the Baseball players' union.

The covenant in question, however, is merely what is ironically known as a gentleman's agreement.

They will not, it is affirmed, allow Eddie Temperamental Roush to talk himself out of Cincinnati into Chicago nor will Dutch Deuther and Burleigh Grimes be permitted to take their salary troubles from Brooklyn to the Polo grounds. George Mogridge, is is understood also, has signified his willingness to talk business with some one more susceptible to sorties against the wallet pocket than Clark Griffith happens to be. George's left handed intentions are to be discouraged, however.

Chronic Dissenter

Roush, of course, is the big issue. He is a chronic dissenter, who seems to feel that he must never forgive baseball for the fact that he is fated to play ball in Cincinnati. His idea of giving service to Garry Herrmann is to report in mid-summer, take several weeks to get into condition and finish the season in the detached, impersonal manner of one who knows that he is being imposed upon.

He did this last year and then had the effrontery to demand a full season's salary, under pain of declining to play ball in 1923. The fact that the Baseball Players' union is lending its sanction to this ridiculous claim has aroused club owners to the point of action and the agreement referred to is the result.

KARLSRUHE, Germany, Feb. 6.—The government of Baden has forbidden German officials in the newly occupied territory to obey orders of the French military authorities. The French explained that this was a measure of reprisal.

Washington State Wins From Oregon Quintet

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 6. — Washington State college defeated Oregon here last night, 21 to 15, and eliminated the webfoot hoopers from the race for northwest conference basketball honors.

The game was slow and uninteresting, with both teams guarding closely. At half time Oregon was leading, 8 to 4. Schroeder entered the Cougar line-up in the second half and immediately dropped in two field goals. Washington State gradually took the lead and held it during the latter part of the game.

BOXER DIES FROM BEATING IN RING

Weak From Strain of Gaining Weight, Succumbs to Brain Concussion

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Andy Thomas, east side welterweight, died today from injuries sustained in a twelve-round bout last night from Johnny Clinton at the Broadway Exhibition association.

Thomas, weakened by training down to 136 pounds to meet Clinton's weight, took a severe beating but was never knocked down.

He was practically out on his feet at the end of the eleventh, but his seconds let him go up for the final period.

Before a blow was struck he collapsed to the canvas.

He was taken to a hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and never regained consciousness.

No arrests have been made so far.

KIWANIS HELPING SCOUT MOVEMENT

Not Charity But Insurance, Is Slogan Carried by Mailing Cards

'Scouting is not charity, but insurance," is the message cleverly brought home to Glendalians by cards received today from the Kiwanis club of Glendale.

On the card is shown in silhouette a man at the mercy of two boys, one holding a revolver and the other rifling his pockets. In the background is a boyish figure behind a barred window, hinting of what is in store for the two boys.

A contrasting scene is presented in the lower corner, where one sees silhouetted against an imaginary blue sky a pup tent with a Boy Scout flag flying in the breeze. Near the tent is the figure of a Boy Scout frying flapjacks over a camp fire.

Between the two scenes is the big word "Which?"

HIGH SCHOOL TO AID LAND VALUE

Noted Community Builder Praises Glendale for Education Plans

Glendale's magnificent liberality in planning the finest educational facilities possessed by any city of its size in Southern California is not only a splendid illustration of the fine community spirit that prevails, but is, as well, the best kind of advertising, points out J. Harvey McCarthy, well-known throughout the Southland as a community builder. In his judgment the large expense incurred in building the new high school, on East Broadway, will not only be thoroughly justified by reason of the better opportunities that will be afforded Glendale children to acquire education, but will bring large results in attracting newcomers to the city.

The success of a Californian city can always be measured by the adequacy of its school system, Mr. McCarthy said today, for nothing is more closely interwoven with a proper civic pride. Glendale's achievements in this respect, he said, have given the city an enviable reputation among Southern California communities.

Building Booms

In regard to the material benefits that follow school expansion, Mr. McCarthy explained that evidence of its value could be found in the tremendous impetus that the establishment of the new school on East Broadway had brought to that portion of the city. Practically every piece of land suitable for building purposes in the vicinity of the new school has been sold to home-builders, with property values mounting steadily. Building operations have increased enormously, he pointed out, with every prospect that the entire eastern section of the city would be built up in a very short time. This activity will, of course, result in increased taxable values and consequent large additions to the city's resources.

Speaking of the influence of the new high school on his own Eagle Glen Heights residential subdivision, which adjoins the new school, Mr. McCartney declared that the demand that has arisen for homes for families who wish to live as near the school had resulted in so many sales that only a few lots remained to be sold. Many of those who bought at Eagle Glen Heights a short while ago had refused to sell at a considerable profit, and this condition of the realty market was reflected in general all through that section of Glendale.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"Broken Chains," the feature at the Glendale theater, is the thrilling story of a youth who came between a brute husband and his girl wife and smashed the chains that imprisoned her in a lonely cabin of a lawless mountain country.

It is a masterpiece of thrilling action and genuine heart throbs.

Thirty-two thousand persons, among them the foremost authors of the country, sent their contributions to the Chicago Daily News to compete for the right to entertain American picture audiences, but Winifred Kimball was the victor and with "Broken Chains" won the $30,000 prize.

The T. D. & L.

Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. & L. theater, states that over 5000 Glendalians have seen Mabel Normand in "Suzanna" at the T. D. & L. in the first two days of its showing. This is the final day.

Story, plot, costumes and atmosphere are all Spanish, which gave the elfish little Miss Normand opportunity to assume a romantic and picturesque character.

It is a picture typical of California in the days of 1833.

Manager Allan declares that the picture should not be missed by Glendale people.

Shrine Club's Show Filled With Features

KATHLEEN WOODS

Talented Glendale girl who will have prominent part in Shrine Club show to be staged at T. D. & L. theatre afternoon and night of February 8.

Have you reserved your tickets for the big Shrine show to be given at the T. D. & L. Theatre the afternoon and night of February 8? If not, you'd better hurry. They are sure going fast with the "bald-headed row" just about sold out.

It's going to be some show, folks. The cast is composed of many notables who have all made a name for themselves in the show world.

Paul Shoaf, who takes the part of Jack Rockwell, the juvenile lead, is a regular HE artist. He is known all over the coast for his clever singing and dancing and to Glendale audiences needs no introduction.

Recently this clever young man finished a tour of the Pantages circuit at which time his Hawaiian melodies found proper place in the hearts of hundreds of eastern audiences. In the forthcoming production he sings a Hawaiian love song to Lorna. Does he win her heart? Well, that would be giving away the plot and really that wouldn't be fair.

Miss Kathleen Woods, who appears in the Shrine Musical comedy, "Smile Again," is gifted with a personality that is, indeed, rare. She will lend her charm and grace to further the already well-balanced cast of players. Appearing in an original designed costume portraying the prize-winning Glendale Peacock, she will "strut around," leading the fashion revue, which will be unique. A Peacock dance originated by the clever young woman will go to make up her part of the show.

OFFERS PLAYERS USE OF THEATRE

'Arabian Love Story' Will Be Shown in Glendale Theatre On February 15th

It was William A. Howe who made it possible for the Glendale Community players to carry out their plans for their first production Thursday night, February 15. The players have no stage of their own, so Mr. Howe very graciously offered them the use of the Glendale theater, where they will give "The Arabian Love Story."

This Arabian tale is a one-act play known as "The Hand of the Prophet." The costumes have been specially made by volunteer workers under the direction of Dorothy Woods, assisted by Mrs. Ella Meeker and members of the art committee.

Three Arabian dances and two songs supplement the love story of the beautiful young bride Halima, married to the elderly merchant Kodama. The part of Kodama is taken by Clarence Edwards. Nathan Dial is the romantic young sheik of the desert, who wins Halima's love.

Pendroy Buyers Comb Market for New Lines

In three different parts of the country yesterday Pendroy's department store had buyers active in their special fields selecting new stock, according to Earl C. Pendroy.

John Swearngin, general merchandise manager, left Glendale last Friday for eastern points to purchase piece goods for that department. William Baker left Saturday for San Francisco to attend the San Francisco furniture market week exposition and also purchase toys from the Bay City importers.

Mrs. E. C. Pendroy is en route to New York City, where she will select the latest millinery and ready-to-wear models for late spring and summer.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Earl Murch returned to his home at 315 East Garfield avenue today from the Glendale Research Hospital where an emergency appendictomy was performed recently.

A feature of the affair will be an exhibit of etchings by Ralph Pearson. Mr. Pearson will be present and those attending the gathering will have the privilege of meeting Mr. Pearson and talking with him about his work. Presbyterians Secure $6000 Mission Fund

Glendale Presbyterians are greatly gratified over the $6,000 missionary fund raised at last Sunday's services presided over by Dr. Robert N. McLean, secretary of home mission work in the southwest.

The meetings on Sunday addressed by Dr. McLean closed a week of special services. Sunday night there were present two Mexican ministers, Miss Jennie Horsch, worker among the Mexicans in Azusa, and a Mexican choir of sixty voices from Los Angeles.

The $6,000 will be used for both home and foreign work, the majority to be spent in Los Angeles county.

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The stock market continued active and strong in the late dealings, many of the leading issues advancing into new high ground for the day and year. Studebaker and Chandler motors were strong features and many specialties made sharp gains.

The railroad stocks also became active again just before the close.

United States Steel held above 107. American Smelting rose over 3 points to 61½.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong.

In Grain Market

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Grain prices, although showing strength at times, weakened toward the close of the markets today and closed easier. At one time during the trading May wheat sold at 120, the high price of yesterday. News generally was bearish, however. Corn and oats followed the trend of wheat.

Wheat closed ⅝@1½c lower. Corn was ⅝@1c off and oats ¼@¾c down.

Provisions were firm. Lard closed 7½@10c higher.

Woman With Throat Cut May Be Assault Victim

OAKLAND, Feb. 6.—With her throat cut from ear to ear, Mrs. Veronica Statkins, 30, and pretty, ran from her home at 3060 Broadway here and collapsed on the sidewalk. She was taken by a passing motorist to Merritt hospital, where surgeons said she would die.

Whether the woman attempted suicide or was the victim of a murderous assault, the police and physicians were unable to determine.

Immigration Bars Are Lowered for Armenians

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6. — The senate passed a bill permitting the immigration of 25,000 American refugees' children and all Armenian adults having blood relatives living in the United States. The bill set aside the restrictions of the 3 per cent immigration law.

The provision relating to Armenian adults, it was estimated, affects approximately 5,000 persons. All must have their future livelihood guaranteed prior to admission.

TELLS NEEDS OF MEXICAN MISSION

More Church Room Is Now Needed to Care for Congregation

The Presbyterian church people Sunday morning listened to a weighty and heart-stirring message from Dr. Robert M. McLean, superintendent of the southwest division of home missions, which covers the whole of the work for the Mexicans in this country. He took as his text Christ's words, "I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how am I straitened till it be accomplished!" He said in part:

"These were the words of a man looking out upon multitudes lost in sin, a man who cared. In these days we don't care enough —"I should worry!" expresses the common unconcern. We don't care as Jesus did for need; what can get hold of us?

"Many Mexicans are living among us. Of late, since this has become the white spot for them, they have been drifting hither from all places eastward, so their numbers have much increased in a short time in and near Los Angales. In the city their homes are extremely crowded, and child mortality is high.

"Their paramount need is Jesus Christ. Provide milk and what you will, unless you provide Christ all else falls short. When He comes in, then everything else changes for the better.

Church Is Crowded

The largest Christian church among them is the one in Los Angeles, "The Church of the Divine Saviour." It is housed in their old mission school building, which has been fixed over for this use as best they could. It seats about 200, but they fill it more than full, people standing at windows and others going away, coming to hear about Jesus. The Christian Endeavor meets in an upper room which is becoming precarious by insufficient strength —what would you say to these people? Stop? It's a problem.

"They are courageously doing for themselves. They are aiming at self-support very soon, and even more. But that church can by no means meet alone the immense need and responsibility that has come upon it. The sort of prayer one may hear those Mexican pastors pray! They verily lay hold on the feet of God, and the results are scores coming to God.

"There's a special glory about home missions. You can pray and you can give, but also you can do. When your heart is straitened, then you have got to do. The gulf disappears between you and them. A remarkable letter came this week from a woman in Ohio: 'A year hence we will go to our orange grove in California. It is going to be my task to care for our many Mexican laborers. What shall I do to get ready? We must give them Jesus Christ.' "

THRIFT COMPANY IS BEING FORMED

Glendale Organization Will Squelch Loan Sharks, It Is Declared

Organization is under way here of The People's Finance and Thrift company, a $75,000 corporation, operating under the Wimsett system of banking. More than a score of business men were introduced to the idea at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the directors' room of the Glendale State bank.

Major Schindler addressed those present on the work being done by F. I. Williams, organization supervisor, who has established offices temporarily at 113 East Broadway. The Glendale State bank is acting as escrow agent for the concern which appeals to popular subscription for capital to loan wage earners of Glendale.

People's banks have been established in Europe for many years to effectively deal with the loan shark who takes his toll from the workingman. More recently they have found a great field in America, and today there is said to be more than $100,000,000 loaned by these institutions, with an average loan of $170. Losses are less than one-tenth of one per cent, as credit is based on character plus earning power.

Local Organization

As Mayor Schindler pointed out to the business men present, the Wimsett system is purely a home-owned and controlled institution, similar to the Morris plan, but better in his belief, the object being to reduce loans to a standard of commercial banking.

Perhaps the word "thrift" best expresses the system as a whole, for it teaches those who borrow how to save profitably and eventually finance themselves. It also establishes credit and affords banking facilities for a good portion of the 18 per cent of the American public not affiliating with financial institutions, although voting, attending church and otherwise enjoying the privileges accorded under the constitution.

Los Angeles, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Sacramento, Long Beach and other California cities already have successful Wimsett system institutions operating and there is no question but what Glendale's Thrift company will be organized within the next few days, according to Supervisor Williams, as the plan meets with popular approval everywhere as well as being considered an excellent investment.

Sheriff May Blow Up Illicit Liquor Plant

DILLON, Mont., Feb. 6.—When a "moonshine still" is too large to be moved should it be dynamited?

This is the question puzzling Sheriff Dan Mooney of Beaverhead county, following seizure of what is believed to be the largest illicit liquor still ever discovered in the west.

The huge still was located in the Blacktail country, near this city. The tank is constructed of heavy sheet copper riveted in a workmanlike manner. Seven thousand gallons of mash were in a state of fermentation, and about twenty-five tons of corn and other grain were nearby.

It is estimated that it took four or five men at least a month to "set up" the plant, which was carefully hidden in an out-of-the-way place.

Sheriff Mooney will ask the courts to decide on the disposition of the still.

Buy Clock for Outside Of Famous Old Church

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6.—Old Center church, that has decorated New Haven Green for 125 years and for many years was the scene of all Yale graduations, will soon have an outside clock for the first time. Citizens, annoyed when a "skyscraper" cut off the view of the "town clock" in the city hall, are raising a fund to put the clock there. Action of customers who want to shop where they can see a clock has led merchants in central New Haven to contribute largely to the fund, and they plan to advertise: "You can see the clock from here."

Glendale Scouts Will Inspect Post Office

Operation of a first class post-office in a first class town will be shown 100 Boy Scouts here this afternoon by D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster. H. F. Benner, scout executive, is conducting the educational tour.

Keeps Autographs of Newlyweds as Tokens

BILLINGS, Mont., Feb. 6.—On leaving office Judge Ray Anderson of Billings, who was defeated for re-election recently, took with him a unique souvenir—a notebook containing the autographs of 1334 persons whom he had started on the matrimonial seas during the eight years he presided over the justice of the peace court bench.

He regards the list as rather an impressive one, feeling no little awe over having woven so important a pattern as matrimony into the lives of so many people.

At the rate of $5 per couple, the legal fee, Judge Anderson has made $3335 just by saying "pronounce you husband and wife," along with the few other words of the matrimonial chant. Judge Anderson extended credit to many couples.

Marriage in Scotland Success, Reports Show

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Matrimony is a success in Scotland if divorce statistics are to be believed.

Official reports show that during 1922 there were only 401 divorce cases disposed of in Scotland. This compares with 528 in 1921 and 810 in 1920.

The statistics reveal that wives seek divorces more frequently than husbands, wives being the complainants in 203 cases and the husbands in 198. Misconduct was the ground of action in 262 cases and desertion in 139.

Big Salary Is Spurned By Detroit Mayor

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 6. — When the successor of Mayor John C. Lodge assumes the job early in April he will find an unclaimed item of $3000 in the general fund.

This sum represents the amount Lodge might have drawn for serving as mayor, but didn't.

Although attorneys say Lodge is entitled to draw the salary of mayor while serving in that capacity, he has refused to accept the salary checks.

Lodge continues to draw a much smaller salary as councilman, president of the council and acting mayor.

Lodge took over Senator Couzens' job, who resigned to occupy Truman H. Newberry's seat in the United States senate. Under the city charter Lodge must call a special election within six months.

Horse Is Superior to Mule in Warfare, Said

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—The horse beats the mule in modern warfare.

This was the declaration of Maj. A. E. Donovan, veterinary surgeon of the First Corps Area, who has lately been testing the endurance of the horse over the mule in certain critical situations.

"A mule runs away in warfare," Major Donovan said, "but a horse can be depended upon."

The mule has one advantage over the horse, however, declared Major Donovan.
